Governor Plans Awards to Cities for Crime Fighting

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Harold Hughes announced Wednesday creation of a series of awards to Iowa cities and towns to encourage "outstanding work" in combating crime, poverty and other urban problems.

And the governor renewed his call for a statewide citizen alert against lawlessness, "A general declaration of war — the people versus crime."

Speaking to representatives of Iowa's 16 largest cities, Hughes said there probably will be awards in such categories as race relations, law enforcement, and crime prevention, traffic safety and community improvement.

There also will be one major award for the community showing "over-all excellence in providing these services so directly needed to meet the challenges of our way of life," he said.

Hughes said a committee will be named to establish criteria for the awards and the same committees will probably select the winners. He said he hopes an awards dinner in late November or early December will become an annual event.

He urged the municipal officials to join in an "All-Iowa Crime Prevention Alert" to "mobilize the united people power of this state in a total citizen effort to stop crime."

"The object of the crime alert is to give statewide citizen support, communication and backing to the duly constituted enforcement officials of Iowa," Hughes said. It is "humiliating, disgusting and incredible" that people are afraid in their homes and businesses and on their streets. This fear and reluctance to become involved "invite the criminal behavior about which people are apprehensive," the governor asserted.

"We need to recruit the eyes and ears of every citizen to spot suspicious incidents and misdeeds and to report them immediately to law enforcement officers," he said.

He gave each city official a notebook containing details of some anti-crime programs in other states.

Dike Wind Damage Slight; Firemen Sent to Oelwein

(COURIER NEWS SERVICE)
DIKE — Although winds were unofficially clocked up to 90 miles an hour late Wednesday, very little damage was reported in the Dike area.

Cedar Falls Municipal Utilities, which furnishes electricity up to the edge of Dike, noted that they had one utility pole snapped three miles north of Dike.

Also some damage was reported to old barn doors south of Dike. Damage in town was limited to tree branches, mostly dead ones, and a few shingles from houses.

Residents reported that visibility was practically zero during the heights of the winds when dust filled the air.

Seven members of the Dike Volunteer Fire Department took the ambulance to Oelwein and stood ready to lend assistance there throughout the night.

BEES BARRED
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — In case the bees haven't heard — no longer can they buzz in Charles Caballero's back yard.

An order to this effect was signed Wednesday by Superior Court Commissioner James P. Natoli. Caballero, 77, complained the bees living in the yard of his neighbor crossed over property lines.

The DX Winners' Journal regrets space does not permit photographs of all winners to be included

Sunray DX today urged all licensed drivers to enter their new, exciting game, even though it will be impossible to publish pictures of all the winners. No purchase is necessary, and game is void where prohibited by law. In Extra DXtra Dough, every customer has a much bigger chance to win, because there's more to win.
